The Brand

Riluc is born out of a desire to create objects that are both unique and sculptural. Furniture is designed down to the smallest detail and manufactured to last a lifetime. The striking visuals and unmistakable silhouettes of the Riluc designs combine the know-how of the brand's artisans with contributions from internationally renowned designers.

Founded in 2009 by Ricardo Lucas, a mechanical engineer who joined his father's company to guide it into the 21st century, Riluc continues its mastery of working with stainless steel and brass while absorbing influences from the worlds of art, architecture and design. Designer Toni Grilo has played an influential role in this journey, ensuring the brand international recognition thanks to a collection of original and remarkable designs. In addition to his role as creative director, Toni Grilo has conceived most of the pieces for Riluc, where he combines bold design with creative expression.

The rebirth of the family business has enabled it to find a new vocation thanks to the improved results from the hands of experienced craftspeople and the safeguarding of skills that were on the verge of being lost. By uniting cultural heritage and the handing down of knowledge with continuous evolution, the brand promotes a people-centric approach to business where artisans and their time-honored techniques engage with the needs of the contemporary world.

Riluc is featured in a range of international commissions from hotels and private residences to luxury boutiques and the Élysée Palace in Paris. The brand's pieces combine elegance, quality finishes and attention to detail, celebrating the use of metal while exploring new ideas. The constant desire to challenge the possibilities of the material and the techniques employed by the artisans give rise to an innovative and forward-looking furniture collection. The generous proportions of the Bibendum armchair, one of the first products to be introduced by Riluc, marks the foundation of a family of timeless objects that appeal to the senses via a unique visual expression of stainless steel and brass together with combinations in stone, wood and leather. By creating enduring objects that stand the test of time, we encourage our clients to consume less by consuming more intelligently in order to appreciate the staying power of our pieces in their daily lives.

Craftsmanship

The human touch is central to what Riluc does. The brand's pieces are the result of work realized by the hands of experienced craftspeople. It is a perfect symbiosis of strictly manual techniques and processes aided by machinery. In a world where most goods are mass-produced, the work of these artisans is increasingly vital as it not only preserves long-standing traditions but it also bestows on pieces that which is seen today as the definition of luxury: quality, dedication and time. Taking the time ensures each detail and finish is completed to perfection, from the raw metal to the final product.

Riluc furniture involves countless steps and many hours of work before they are complete, from the molding and welding of metal to the deburring and polishing. In this collaborative process, forms envisioned by designers take shape thanks to the artisan's precise actions. Pieces are born from decades of experience working and experimenting with metal in a constant evolution. Riluc is the guardian of the manual traditions of the past, perfecting them in the present and projecting them into the future. It looks to pass on knowledge from one generation of craftspeople to the next via an in-depth apprentice training program. The brand's openness to new ideas, be it from proposals offered up by designers, clients or artisans, has helped to advance techniques that were at risk of being lost, allowing them prominence in the international luxury market where the timeless objects from Riluc have already secured their place.

Metal

At Riluc we are proposing a new way to express metal by exploring its technical and visual possibilities to the fullest through constant research and experimentation. Since antiquity, metal has been closely linked to mankind's development. For centuries, this material has been brought to life by the hands of artisans who have explored its unique properties. Riluc looks to continue this important tradition, uniting long-established techniques with contemporary design in an intense dialogue between the know-how of the brand's artisans and the creative impulses of designers and architects.

Stainless steel and brass play a special role at Riluc and give life to complex objects, shapes and proportions. These quality metals are essential in a world that is increasingly sustainable. In addition to being fully recyclable, stainless steel and brass are extremely durable and resistant, which is important when producing pieces designed to be passed on to the next generation. The natural beauty of the metals allow them to retain their original color without the need for highly polluting chemical processes. By making use of production leftovers, recycling and improving the energy efficiency of our factory, we are able to continually develop objects with a unique personality in a sustainable way that brings together design, manufacturing and a deep-rooted respect for the environment.
